An UPDATED Message from Mayor Annette Iafallo – CURFEW IN PLACE FOR ALL OF ERIE COUNTY STARTING AT 8PM ON JUNE 2.

A few moments ago, Erie County Executive Poloncarz extended the curfew related to protester violence to ALL of Erie County for tonight, Tuesday, June 2 from 8pm to 5am on Wednesday.

Originally the curfew was limited to the cities of Buffalo and Lackawanna, and the towns of Amherst, Cheektowaga, Tonawanda and West Seneca. Once again the curfew is now applicable to all municipalities in Erie County.

Below is an updated post from the County Executive's Facebook page. Please note the condition for essential worker travel.

Be aware that for Buffalo only, this curfew will be in place from Tuesday through Sunday. The need for curfew extensions in other areas of Erie County, including Lackawanna, will be evaluated on a daily basis with the County Executive. Updates would be communicated as soon as possible.

Please honor the curfew orders of the County Executive.

Stay Safe and God Bless.

Annette

PS – there have been reports of people having their doors knocked on in the middle of the night ... only to find no one there. If anyone experiences this or other instances of disturbance, please call the Lackawanna Police immediately.

I just finished a conference call with local supervisors and mayors. Based on law enforcement assistance that suburban and rural towns are providing to Buffalo and other areas, we have all agreed the curfew for tonight from 8 pm through 5 am tomorrow will be a COUNTYWIDE curfew.

Essential workers can travel during curfew hours but should have proof of employment (ID, etc.).
